

The average length of a human tongue is 6 inches long

Saliva does not play an important role in determining the taste of food

Our tongue helps us to speak

The tongue is the main receptor of taste